Dear Morgane

In Liechtenstein you need an allowance from the Government Chancellery that you have to fulfill. This form will then be checked from the National Police and the office of Civil Engineering concerning the security, signalisations and so on. If needed these two organisations are able to impose conditions. After this the Government Chancellery give the allowance for the demonstrations, which realisation the Police controls.

In Liechtenstein are demonstrations very rarely.

I hope this informaiton helps you.

Best Regards

Dear Tina Enz,

Thank you for your reply.

I would like to clarify that I am not only referring to non peaceful demonstrations, but any kind of demonstrations, protests, or assemblies in public places, including peaceful ones.

Do you have any of the information that I requested in my information letter of February 13th, regarding the way police forces handle peaceful demonstrations?

For your convenience, I have attached my request again to this email.

Many thanks for your help,

Best regards,

Morgane
